

Corsican Craft Potters

Corsica is not particularly well known as a pottery region, but there are a growing number of craftsmen and craftswomen potters. Here is a list compiled by location. I have put links to the very few that have websites and email addresses are shown where they exist.

There are of course others, but untraced by me; naturally I'll add to the list when I discover additional names. If you plan a visit, I suggest a call in advance, since these are working potters and they may be busy or on their travels and thus unable to welcome you at the workshop.
